DATABASE VISIONS

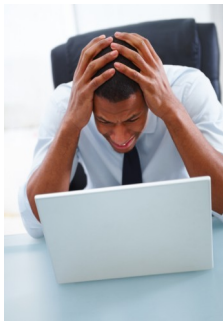

Oracle Application and Development Experts

Oracle, nothing but Oracle

ORACLE Gold
Partner

Specializing in Database Design, Application Development, and Data Warehouse Solutions

Who Needs Custom Application Development?

Many businesses mold their processes and procedures to work within the structure imposed on them by the software they use. They actually run their organization in ways they know are inefficient because their current software can't handle it. Many program managers don't realize it can be fixed – they simply live with inefficiency and assume that's the way it is.

At DatabaseVisions, we will assess your business processes, your obstacles, and your goals in order to develop the application approach that's right for you. Our engineers don't just understand software – they also understand business, and focus on helping businesses improve their workflow, eliminate redundancies and improve operations overall.

Oracle Services

Our service offerings address unique and diverse customer needs to ease through every stage of a solutions implementation. Our Oracle consultants perform requirements analysis and assist with product selection. The developers help to realize ideas and support the developed solution. We provide:

- Design and development of web applications and enterprise solutions using Oracle products
- Porting legacy systems to next generation Oracle architecture
- Expert evaluation and matching of Oracle products to customer's problems; recommending solution design
- Independent assessment of advantages and disadvantages of using Oracle comparing to its competitors in the areas of business intelligence, information assurance and content management
